To help support diversity within the fact-checking industry, the Facebook Journalism Project has partnered with the National Association of Black Journalists (NABJ) to recruit and place 9 emerging journalists in the U.S. newsrooms of IFCN-certified fact-checking organizations. The year-long fellowships will be full-time, paid positions.

Eligible candidates must be legally permitted to work in the United States and can apply until 11:59pm PT on Friday, January 8, 2021.
