

NYU MS in Publishing: Digital and Print Media program and the NYU Summer Publishing Institute

Posted At : September 28, 2020 6:30 PM | Posted By : SHSJC

Related Categories: Events, Education

Join the information session to learn about NYU MS in Publishing: Digital and Print Media program and the NYU Summer Publishing Institute, as well as information on new scholarship opportunities for the Summer Publishing Institute. NYU is excited to announce the Carolyn Kroll Reidy Scholarship for students from underrepresented backgrounds as part of the session.

Our upcoming online information sessions will take place on October 7, 2020 at 6:00pm EST and on November 17, 2020 at 6:00pm EST.

Details and RSVP links for both of these sessions are below.

The MS in Publishing: Digital & Print Media program is a 42-credit graduate program at the NYU School of Professional Studies, now in its 24th year, for recent college graduates. We are now accepting applications for spring and fall 2021.

The NYU Summer Publishing Institute is a renowned six-week summer program for rising seniors and recent college graduates. In 2021, the program will run from June 7th to July 16th. (Note, for the fourth year, we are opening the program to rising college seniors.) The Priority Deadline for SPI applications is February 1, 2021.

Interested students can learn about both of these programs at our upcoming information sessions.

Online Information Session on Wednesday, October 7, 2020 at 6:00pm EST (RSVP here)

Online Information Session on Tuesday, November 17, 2020 at 6:00pm EST (visit our website).